He was born while his father and brother John were working on the Stone House. He was known as Stanley.

Travelling west from Ontario in 1889, he settled at Carman MB for a time. It was from Carman that he travelled in 1898 to study at the Nashville (TN) Bible School. That was apparently not his only activity during that time for after reporting his return from Nashville in their 11 May issue, the Dufferin (MB) Leader reported on 27 Jul 1899:

Bates - H.A. Smiley carries a black eye and Stanley York a broken finger as a result of ball catching.

Stanley is remembered for his way with a violin and his share in social affairs. He continued to play his violin until the time of his death.

Continuing his travels west, he lived in Saskatchewan during the time of the Riel Rebellion. From here he continued on to Alberta. Other residences included High River AB, Nanton and Innisfail AB, where they raised horses and cattle, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge AB. They also lived in California, first at Hayward, where they raised chickens, and later at Turlock where they raised hay and fruit. --Shirley York Anderson
